Nominees for Council Selected.

In the Democratic primary held in this city Friday nominees for Councilmen were selected from the three wards in the city of Paris resulting in the endorsement of the administration of Mayor J. T. Hinton, four members of the ticket put forward by the present administration being elected.

The primary passed off quietly without any demonstration of any sort, but the interest manifested was greater than any that has prevailed in a city primary in a great many years. A full vote of the Democratic forces was not polled in the election Friday the returns showing a decrease of 99 cast in the primary of September 24, 1909.

In the six precincts in the city a total of 787 votes were cast while two years ago there was a total of 886 votes polled. The candidates and their friends were exceedingly active in the primary of Friday.

Two of the opposing candidates to the administration were chosen in the second ward, Wm. Kenney and D. C. Parrish, while the administration candidate who received the nomination was W. O. Hinton. In the first ward W. T. Brooks, Frank Walker and George D. Speakes were the choice of the voters, Walker being one of the new council, while Brooks and Speakes were on the side of the administration. The third ward gave Harry Baldwin a majority of four votes over his opponent, John McCarthy. Following is the unofficial vote:

LIQUID CURES ECZEMA WHERE SALVE FAILS

In regard to skin diseases medical authorities are now agreed on this: Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid. WASH THE GERMS OUT. A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as combined in the D. D. D. Prescription, penetrates to the disease germs and destroys it, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done.

A 25-cent trial bottle will start the cure, and give you instant relief.

Playing for the Tobacco Vote.

Judge O'Rear has become very sensitive. He not only refuses to answer any questions asked by Governor McCreary, but there are certain subjects that he will not have mentioned in his presence, or in his hearing. When his attention was called to the fact that Governor Willson had spent over $270,000 in the last three and a half years in calling out the troops he indignantly wanted to know what Governor McCreary would have done under similar conditions. Those who know the Democratic nominee, and have seen him face every kind of public crisis for more than forty years, have no fear that he would have maintained order without impoverishing the state, and without working a hardship upon the tobacco growers who for so long have tottered under the burdens laid upon them by the tobacco trust. He would have protected the honor of the State without draining the Treasury of its funds, and he would have made a criminal trust answer in the courts for its offenses.

In a recent speech Governor McCreary has stated his position upon this important question, and it is a credit to his courage and fairness. He said:

"I believe the Governor of Kentucky should wisely use whatever authority the law gives him or that may be necessary to preserve peace and maintain the law, whether the offense be nightriding or any other violation of the law, and when disturbances occur the Governor should carefully examine all matters connected with them, and the law should be enforced against the tobacco trust the same as against night riding, so as to protect the farmers from the greed and oppression of trusts, and maintain the dignity of the law. I have repeatedly denounced the tobacco trust as an unlawful combination, and the Supreme Court of the United States has decided that it was operating in violation of law and in restraint of trade. The American tobacco trust and all other trusts are the result of Republican legislation. While in Congress I made repeated efforts to repeal the tobacco tax and to remove burdens unjustly placed on farmers and laboring men, but I was not successful, because the House and Senate were under the control of the Republicans, who were the representatives of protected interests instead of the masses."

Quills and Their Uses.

Quills are things that are sometimes taken from the pinions of one goose to spread the opinions of another.

Trading on the Court's Opinion.

Judge O'Rear hardly crossed the line into the Eleventh District before he began to remind the mountain people that he had written the opinion which had perfected the titles to their lands and made their homes secure. That is true, but it is only half true. Judge O'Rear could not have put that decision upon the books had not his fellow Judges, all Democrats, empowered him to do so. It was not a political decision, nor was it the result of personal influence or persuasion. It was a just verdict, which the Supreme Court of the United States upheld, and it not only secured to the mountain people their humble homes, but made it possible for capital to build railroads, open mines and bring timber to market, and otherwise uncover the riches of that marvelous section. There was general rejoicing all over Kentucky when this decision enfranchised the mountain people. Politics had nothing to do with it, and Judge O'Rear had just one vote on the question.

It will become the Judge of the Court of Appeals to point to his decisions, and remind the people who profited by them that his hand wrote them, and that for this reason he should receive their generous consideration. It is not only against the ethics of the Judge's profession for him to do this, but it brings the whole Court in disrepute to have its decisions played upon the bargain counter as if they were matters of barter and sale.

The more the people of the State see of the Republican nominee for Governor, the more they will realize that instead of a broad, liberal, fair-minded Judge, holding the balances level with a firm hand, he has become the time-serving politician, appealing to every petty prejudice, and seeking every advantage.

Delusive Dreams of Calvert Estates.

A news dispatch from Baltimore, Md., says: "Again the story of the big Calvert fortune said to be lying for centuries in the heart of Baltimore has come to life and this time a number of Kentuckians have been given the idea that they are to receive many thousands from a big piece of land in Baltimore."

"There is no doubt that 6,000 acres of land in Baltimore are well worth $12,000,000, and it would be a pleasant thing for the Kentuckians who are being told they are Calvert heirs to share it."

"The Kentuckians might as well forget it," however, because hundreds have fallen for the same story these many years.

"Claims to the so-called Calvert part of the estate in the center of Baltimore have been coming in for the last quarter of a century with a regularity that is no longer surprising. Some of the older inhabitants say that the same kind of claims were coming to Baltimore as far back as they remember."

"All of the claimants suspect or believe that they are heirs to Sir George Calvert. Pittsburg has laid its claim for several of its citizens. So have Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago, Denver, Los Angeles—even inoffensive Wheeling, and a great list of other cities. So Kentucky is late."

"For the benefit of Kentuckians who may be told that they have a chance to get some of the Calvert millions out of Baltimore real estate it would be well to bear in mind that it was on August 8, 1729, that an act was passed for erecting a town of sixty acres on the north side of Patapsco, to be known as Baltimore town, and commissioners were appointed consisting of Major Thomas Tolley, William Hamilton, William Buckner, Dr. George Walker, Richard Gist, Dr. George Buchanan and Col. William Hammond."

"On December 1, 1729, these commissioners bought from Daniel and Charles Carroll the tract of sixty acres, paying forty shillings an acre, and then the town was laid off. Sir George Calvert's estate had nothing to do with the building of the city of Baltimore, and [there is] no question about the Calvert title in any of the later extension of the city. Once more the story is nailed, but it will arise again in some other part of the West, unless history fails to repeat itself."

Lodge News.

The 1912 meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will be held at Winnipeg, Manitoba. A strong movement to send the 1913 assembly to Berlin, for the stimulating effect on the Order in Europe, will be organized.

Hotel keepers licensed to sell intoxicating liquors will hereafter be barred from admission to the Odd Fellows Order. This was the decision of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows at Indianapolis last week, which adopted an amendment to the constitution to this effect by a vote of 139 to 15. Saloon keepers have been barred for some time, and a fight has been on to put hotel proprietors holding saloon licenses in the same class.

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps.

ALL MY PIMPLES GONE

Girl Tells How a Blotchy Skin Was Cleansed by a Simple Wash.

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Minnie Pickard of Altamahaw, N. C. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema, and that was three years ago."

D. D. D. has become so famous as a cure and instant relief in Eczema and all other serious skin diseases, that its value is sometimes overlooked in clearing up rash, pimples, blackheads, and all other minor forms of skin impurities.

The fact is, that while D. D. D. is so penetrating that it strikes to the very root of Eczema or any other serious trouble, the soothing Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients are so carefully compounded there is no wash for the skin made that can compare with this great household remedy for every kind of skin trouble. D. D. D. is pleasant to use, perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, and absolutely reliable. A 25-cent bottle will give you positive proof of the wonderful effectiveness of this great remedy.

M. A. KAHAL.

Queered His Grandfather.

Peter Augustus had a foolish, fond old grandfather. The grandfather was boasting to a visitor one day, as grandfathers will, about the family he had raised.

"My daughter Martha is a fine young woman," he said, "and her little boy, Peter Augustus, is a fine lad. But the finest thing about that pair is the affection that exists between them. They never exchange a cross word. They're more like two young lovers than mother and son. It's beautiful to see them together. Hold on a minute, and I'll call Peter Augustus in. Then his mother will come down, and you can see their relations for yourself."

The old man rose and ambled heavily to the door. There was a beatific smile on his old face. Little Peter Augustus was playing with the cat in the garden.

"Peter Augustus!" he shouted. "Peter Augustus! Your mother wants you!"

The little boy dropped the cat and fixed a searching glance on his grandfather.

"Your mother wants you, Peter Augustus!"

"Does she want to warm me?" Peter Augustus cautiously demanded.

Really Worth While.

Eben Pratt of Marshby had sent two sons to Boston and knew he had reason to be proud of them. One day a summer visitor lingering in Mr. Pratt's grocery, provision and dry goods establishment mentioned some of the shining lights who had made themselves remembered in and near Boston and others still to be found there.

"We've had a good many smart men and women in and around our city," said the visitor, "and there are a number of them left. We've got scientific men and writers and artists and musicians and"—

Mr. Pratt's dry voice broke in on the list. "If ye call those folks smart," he said, "ye want to go down near the water to an address I'll give ye and see the way my boys, Ed and Sam, can open oysters! I guess that'll give ye something to go by when ye're talking of smartness."—Exchange.

Willing to Be Honest.

Phil May, the great English artist, earned his first fame in Australia. One day a broken down minister applied to him for charity, and May engaged him as a model. As a joke he also demanded that his eighty-year-old pensioner agree to leave him his skeleton when he died. When May left Australia he called his model in. "You've played me a dirty trick," said May, "by swindling me out of that skeleton. I could have bought one in sound order and condition for half the money you've cost me." The old fellow, conscious of his base ingratitude to his best and most patient friend, answered: "Don't be angry with me, Mr. May. It's not my fault. I meant to keep my word. Stay in Sydney a few months longer and give me another chance to show you that I am a man of honor."

Redhot Plays.

"It is a tremendous undertaking to get a new play accepted and produced," once said the late Clyde Fitch to a friend. "So many are written, and so few ever see the light of day. An English playwright with a gift of humorous exaggeration illustrated this fact to me once. He told me how he submitted a play to a celebrated actor and how in the course of the conversation the actor remarked:

"Don't you think it is growing chilly in this room?"

"Yes; it is rather," the young playwright admitted.

"Then the actor rang a bell, and a servant forthwith appeared.

"James," said the actor, "this room is rather cold. You may put three more manuscripts on the fire."—Lippincott's.

A Competent Critic.

A famous actor at an elaborate entertainment at a Fifth avenue millionaire's place in New York rose to recite Mrs. Browning's "Dead Pan." As he announced his subject and prepared to begin he heard a lady near him say distinctly:

"What is the next piece? Something funny, I hope. Oh, yes—'The Dead Pan'! Dear me, how odd! Of course it must be funny—something about bad cooking, I suppose."

Playing Her Cards.

Tommy—May I stay up a little longer? Ethel—What do you want to stay up for? Tommy—I want to see you and Mr. Green playing cards. Mr. Green—But we are not going to play cards. Tommy—Oh, yes, you are, for I heard mamma saying to Ethel that everything depended on the way in which she played her cards tonight.

Cautious.

The young housekeeper was looking at some soft shell crabs squirming and wriggling in their bed of seaweed.

"They're very nice," said the dealer.

"Shall I send you a dozen?"

"Yes," answered the innocent, "if you are sure they are fresh."—New York Journal.

The Blushing Octopus.

The octopus frequently changes its color, like a marine camelion. It would appear, from recent studies of the creature, that the colored pigment whereby this change in color is effected is contained in envelopes in its skin, in the tissues of which are muscular fibers actuated by nerves. Should these fibers become relaxed a dark pigment appears. The phenomenon is said to be analogous to blushing.—Harper's Weekly.

A Rainfall of 450 Inches.

The rainfall of a village among the hills of Assam, during ten weeks this year, was 250 inches. The village is Cherrapunji, the rainiest spot in Asia and presumably in the world. Its annual rainfall is something over 450 inches—say, fifteen times as much as London. Cherrapunji stands on a plateau, overlooking the plain of Sylhet, and it is 4,455 feet above sea level.—Westminster Gazette.

English Hermit's Strange Life.

There died the other day, at the age of eighty-two, a hermit named Lewis, who for the last 20 years has existed on shellfish and lived in his covered trawler, beached at Lower Fishguard. He never varied his diet, except when shellfish was scarce, and then he substituted bread and cheese. To within two days of his death he was in robust health.—London Answers.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Hurst returned

Saturday after a two weeks' sojourn in Philadelphia and other Eastern cities. It will be remembered that Mr. Hurst went as a delegate to the National Cooperative Fraternal Insurance Convention which convened at Philadelphia, and was honored by being made a member of the Executive Committee, which means something, as there were representatives in this convention from every state in the Union and the Dominion of Canada.

Dr. H. C. Burroughs left Monday for a week's visit to his daughter, Mrs. James Spencer, in Louisville. He was accompanied by his niece, Miss Betsy Spencer, who has been visiting relatives here for a month.

Some little excitement was created Sunday afternoon about five o'clock when it was reported a mad dog made its appearance on the streets of Millersburg. The animal was reported to have bitten two dogs before it was killed at the South end of town by John Mahar.

Rev. W. A. S. Swift, pastor of the Methodist church, preached his first sermon to his congregation Sunday evening. He was greeted by a large audience, the other churches of the town closing for the occasion. Rev. Swift made a good impression with his hearers.

Miss Ethel Collins, day operator for the Bourbon Home Telephone Co. has been granted a week's vacation and with her mother, Mrs. Frankie Collins, and Miss Maria Smith, left Monday for a week's visit to Miss Grace Smith, at Indian Creek. Miss Curlie Insko will occupy the position of Miss Collins during her absence.

Dr. J. O. A. Vaught who has just closed his four years as Presiding Elder of the Frankfort District, with his family, will leave today for his new field of labor as Presiding Elder of the Covington District, and will make their home at the Highlands. Dr. Vaught in a measure has been identified with the interests of Millersburg for the past twenty-five years. For four years he was pastor of the church here. After that time his three eldest daughters graduated from the M. F. C. A little more than one year ago he moved his family here from Frankfort. Since then his fourth daughter graduated from the same institution. Mr. Vaught has been a familiar figure among us for a long time and we feel that he and his family are so closely identified with us that they will return to our midst again to make their home. They have always been popular here and their annual visits in the past have been looked forward to with much pleasure.

Mr. Vaught was pastor of the church here during the time of the long bitter struggle between the people of Millersburg and the Methodist Conference over the moving of the Kentucky Wesleyan College from here to Winchester. He was one of the valiant for Millersburg and of course for this we love him and trust that they will soon return among us.

Rev. W. A. S. Swift, who has just been transferred from the Arkansas Conference to the Kentucky Conference, and is the successor of Rev. T.

W. Watts, entered upon his charge here Sunday. We gladly welcome him to our community and trust that in a large measure he and family will take the place of those who have just left us.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Allen entertained Thursday evening with a six o'clock dinner in honor of the sixty-eighth birthday of their father, Mr. J. G. Allen. The dinner was served in courses. The following guests were present: Squire and Mrs. A. C. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Tarr, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Ingles, Messrs. J. G. Smedley, W. M. Layson and W. V. Shaw.

Rev. T. W. Watts, who has just closed his four years as pastor of the Methodist church here has been assigned to the Scott street church at Covington, with his family, will leave today for his new field of labor. Rev. Watts is an intellectual man and his sermons while with us were all scholarly treats. During the time he has made many friends as has his estimable wife and family. No people ever left the town whose departure has ever been more regretted. Mrs. Watts and Mrs. Fitch, her mother, were both prominent figures in all lines of church work during their time here and notwithstanding the fact that Rev. Watts is a delicate man he has always been keenly alive to every interest in the building up of the community and schools. As a preacher he is not excelled in his own conference, as a citizen he is loved by all who know him, as a Mason his loss in the lodge will be keenly felt. His counsel was of the best and all were better for having him with us. Our loss will be Covington's gain.

Trustees Order School Closed.

Diphtheria, which made its appearance in the Colville school of which Miss Bessie Miller, of this city, is teacher, has prompted the trustees of the district to order the school closed. Forty pupils attend the school regularly and as they have been exposed to the disease it was thought best to close the school for a couple of weeks in an effort to prevent an epidemic.

Returns to Chicago.

Miss Mary Day Ray, who was seriously injured in the ferris wheel accident at the Ewing Fair during the week of August 17, returned to Chicago in company with her aunt, Mrs. T. W. Case. While able to walk it is more than likely that the young lady will remain a cripple all her life. Miss Ray is a niece of Mrs. J. Morgan Brown, of this city.

Jaw Broken by Fall.

Madison Smoot, aged thirteen years, son of Mrs. Gertrude W. Smoot, was thrown from a bicycle at the interurban station Friday afternoon and sustained severe injuries. The wheel which he was riding struck a rail throwing the boy on his face. His jaw was broken, one upper tooth was knocked out and another broken off, all of the lower teeth pushed out of position, the gum torn from the lower teeth and his right wrist was sprained. Although suffering severely from his injuries he walked to the home of his uncle, Mr. Wm. Remington.

Must Pay Fine.

The Court of Appeals Friday affirmed the judgment of the Hopkins Circuit Court in the case of the L. & N. Ry. Co. against the Commonwealth. The company was indicted by the Hopkins county grand jury for its alleged failure to keep at the Madisonville depot, a suitable waiting room for passengers. On conviction the company was fined $250. The court says that the announced intention of the Railroad Company to remedy conditions constituting the defense, by erecting a new depot, was no defense to a prosecution.

Negro Shot by Another Black.

As a result of an altercation at the fair grounds Saturday night which brought to a close the colored fair which began Wednesday "Shorty" McCoy, a colored porter, employed in the saloon of Abert Lyons, shot and probably fatally wounded Frazier White, also colored.

The cause of the trouble leading up to the tragedy is difficult to obtain as stories are conflicting and although the amphitheatre was crowded with negroes there seems to be no eye witness to the affair, and those who were nearest McCoy at the time of his arrest, disclaim any knowledge of the difficulty leading up to the shooting.

Both McCoy and White bear the reputation of being "bad men," the latter participating in a fight at the fair last year, during which a shooting was narrowly averted.

It is said shortly before the tragedy, McCoy and White met on the promenade and engaged in conversation, which was followed by each using vile language, when McCoy is said to have drawn his revolver and fired at White, the latter falling upon the floor of the stand, apparently dead.

Marshall G. N. McKenney, who with Wm. Tobin, was policing the grounds was beneath the stand, and attracted by the report of the revolver made his way hastily to the scene. McCoy made no effort to escape and was standing a few feet away from his victim.

The shooting caused a panic among the negroes and there was a wild scramble to get out of danger. While the excitement was at its height Marshall McKenney was making an effort to ascertain who fired the shot. Seeing McCoy standing close to the form of White, he approached him to ascertain if he knew the person who did the shooting. The negro was suspecting the intention of the officer was to place him under arrest, informed him he was the person who shot White. Marshall McKenney placed him under arrest and found he still had the revolver with which he shot White in his possession and partly concealed beneath his coat. The negro was turned over to Marshal Tobin, who landed him in jail.

The bullet from the 38 calibre revolver entered White's body about three inches below the collar bone on the right side passing through the body and striking the spinal column, which caused paralysis. He was picked up unconscious and taken to his home on Eighth street, where an examination was made by Dr. Seebree, a colored physician. All efforts to locate the bullet were without result and yesterday afternoon he was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital in Lexington, where an X-ray examination will be made.

White has served several jail sentences for participating in fights and on one occasion escaped from the county jail, being captured later. He is regarded as a dangerous negro.

Coal Oil Stove Exploded.

The fire department was called out last evening in response to a telephone alarm to the residence of Elder J. T. Sherrard on South Main street. A coal oil stove in the kitchen exploded causing some little damage to the woodwork. The fire department made a quick run but the fire was about out when they reached the scene.

Arm Injured.

Mrs. Harry Clay sustained a severe injury Sunday afternoon as the result of a fall she received. She suffered intense pain from the injury, the extent of which her physician has not been able to determine.

Elder Morgan Board Member.

At the convention of the State Missionary Society held in Frankfort last week Elder Carey E. Morgan, pastor of the Paris Christian church, was chosen as a member of the Executive Board.

By a resolution adopted both political parties are credited with being sincere in their platform declarations of the county unit law.

In resolutions adopted Wednesday by the convention the policy of this great church body in the State election will be to keep hands off so far as either party is concerned.

Both parties are commended for inserting the county unit plan in their platforms, and the Anti-Saloon League is praised for keeping out of partisan politics.

The officers of the State body elected Wednesday are: President, M. G. Buckner, Owensboro; first vice president, W. C. Eldred, Carlisle; second vice president, W. A. Fite, Paducah; recording secretary, B. W. Trimble, Mt. Sterling; secretary and treasurer, H. W. Elliott, Sulphur; executive board, B. C. Dewese, W. F. Smith, H. V. Wallace, Lexington; H. D. Smith, Hopkinsville; Carey E. Morgan, Paris; J. H. McNeill, Winchester; W. S. Irvin, Nicholasville; Smallwood Fund Advisory Committee, H. D. Smith; W. P. Winfrey and George C. Talbott.

Farm Interest Sold.

J. C. McDaniels, of Millersburg, sold this week to C. L. Guthrie, his undivided one-half interest in two tracts of land containing 250 acres, lying on the Mt. Sterling and Flat Rock pike, adjoining the land of A. B. Thomson and Jos. Wilson. The price paid was $11,886.89.

Large Increase.

The enrollment of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School this season is 25 per cent larger than it has been any previous year says the president. A systematic form of advertising was pursued this year.

A Correction.

An omission in a news note taken from the Daily News, of Dallas, Texas, published in a recent issue of the News left the impression that an entertainment given by Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Morgan, of that city, was for Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Keller, of Paris, when it should have been for Miss Liela Keller (who is visiting in that city).

Blunder Now a Brilliant Maneuver.

The controversy which followed the naval battle of Santiago and resulted in a court of inquiry to consider charges that practically amounted to an accusation of cowardice against Admiral, then Commodore Winfield S. Schley, has been reopened in a most surprising way by the publication of a history of the Spanish-American War from the pen of Admiral F. E. Chadwick, commander of the flagship New York, and Admiral William T. Sampson's chief of staff at the time of the battle, says a dispatch from New York.

There was much criticism on the part of Sampson's supporters of the course of Admiral Schley for turning his flagship, the Brooklyn, at a critical point of the battle. It was claimed that Schley started to run away from the fight.

Much was made of this point in the controversy that waged between the factions of the navy.

Now comes Admiral Chadwick and shows by his account of the battle that Schley's course in turning the Brooklyn, instead of being a discreditable act, as in fact a brilliant naval maneuver, for which Schley and Capt. Cook should have been given great praise.

Admiral Schley was so bitterly opposed that had it not been for Admiral Dewey's prompt and decisive defense of his action he would have been disgraced.

THEATRICAL.

"THE ROSARY."

When Rowland & Clifford's new play, "The Rosary," by Edward E. Rose, comes to the Paris Grand on Wednesday, October 4, the discriminating public will be given an opportunity to see pictured before them the growing unrest and irreligion of our times. It is a faithful picture of the misery and unhappiness that surely comes upon a man who lacks faith in the supreme god and its triumphs in our world.

Can one evil mind poison a household? Is the human brain capable of producing disastrous effects upon a household by adverse suggestive thoughts?

Do we realize adequately how our mental attitudes influence our lives and the lives about us?

And the answer? Well, the play is the answer.

Bourbon County Crop Conditions

Crop conditions in Bourbon continue to improve with the spreading of late corn. Garden truck is rolling into town in larger quantities and at prices more reasonable than for many months. Milk and butter supplies have increased as a result of cows grazing on green grass, and with cooler weather and the moulting season of fowls practically over the supply of eggs have also increased.

Confidence prevails throughout the county as a result of improved conditions and with an indicated yield of tobacco much larger than prevailed one month ago the revenue that will flow into the hands of the farmers and later find their way into the channels of retail trade has had the effect of making things lively in all departments of a busy city.

The unusual activity prevailing in the real estate trade has made transactions numerous in the sale of farms both publicly and privately and from now until the beginning of the crop season of 1912 many exchanges of property are expected. Good farms are in active demand, as reported by the local real estate dealers, and the demand for homes in the city has about consumed every house desirably located, they say.

Lexington is now one game in the lead in the post-season series with Paris assuming the lead by taking the double bill in Lexington Sunday afternoon. Paris defeated Lexington Friday afternoon, on the Lexington grounds by a score of 7 to 5. The game was poorly contested and Robins, the Colt hurler, was hit hard. Edgington, who succeeded him, was extremely wild.

The Colts won the first game of the double header in Lexington, Sunday afternoon by a score of 5 to 0 and the second 7 to 3. Hauser went both games for the locals but poor support gave the game to the Colts. Both teams played ragged ball.

FREE SAMPLE CURED OLD PERSON'S BOWEL TROUBLE

One of the most remarkable proofs of the unusual laxative merit contained in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is that it is effective not only in people in the prime of life, but at the extremes of ages. As many letters are received from mothers regarding the cures of children, as from men and women of sixty, seventy and eighty years of age. It must be truly a wonderful laxative.

In the cure of constipation and bowel trouble in old people it has no equal. It corrects the constipation, dispels the headache, biliousness, gas, drowsiness after eating, etc. People advancing in years should see to it that their bowels move freely, and if they do not to take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You can prolong your life by healthy bowel action. Clogged bowels invite disease. Women about to pass the menstrual period cannot do better than use Syrup Pepsin several times a week until the system has settled to its future condition.

Among the strongest supporters of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are Mr. W. G. Zorn of New Decatur, Ala., and Mr. George S. Spaulding of the National Soldiers' Home, Kansas, both elderly men. The regular size bottles can be bought at any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar, but a free sample bottle can be had by sending your address to the doctor.

Address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 402 Caldwell building, Muncie, Ill.

Lord Lyttleton came over to New York in search of a wife. He brought letters to me, and I put him up at those clubs to which I belonged. I didn't need to introduce him to our set because it was known he was coming, and all the women with marriageable daughters—I mean those who are looking for foreign titles—flooded him with invitations as soon as he arrived.

I had a matrimonial scheme on hand myself. I didn't need money, you know, having a couple of hundred thousand income, but I liked Miss Auchincloss, who had as much more. There are those of us well to do people who don't wish to be bothered making more money. We usually marry among ourselves, so you see it was possible for Miss Auchincloss and me to consider love just like ordinary people. Well, I introduced the Englishman to her, and what did he do but make up to her and offer himself.

The first I knew of it Miss Auchincloss sent for me and told me—mind you, I hadn't proposed to her—that she was intending to accept my lordly friend.

"Love match?" I asked, controlling my surprise.

"Nonsense!"

"Title?"

"Of course. We all wish to get up in the social scale, and say what you like, a title is always a step higher than no title."

"How about the man you have to take with it?"

"Lyttleton is passable."

"Well?"

"What do you think of it?"

"It'll be a good thing for me. I don't see how a man can put another more under obligations to himself than by introducing him to a girl he hoped to get for his wife and giving her up to him. When I go to London I'll have some one to do a lot for me. Does he know of my pretensions?"

"Not till I told him."

"Well, goodby. You have accepted him, I suppose."

"Yes, but we're not to be married for a year. I'm to go over and have a look at the castle. He says $100,000 for repairs will be required."

"Well, I wish you joy in your title."

I bade her goodby, and going to my club, I found Lyttleton.

"Hello, old chap!" he said. "Glad to see you."

"Accept my congratulations upon your engagement."

"She's told you, has she? Well, old fellow, she told me she has turned you down for me. Deuced poor taste, you know. Don't see how she could have done it. By the bye, you couldn't let me have a matter of $1,000 or so for a few weeks? I'm getting remittances of rents from my agents due a month from today."

"Certainly. Two thousand if you like."

"Well, make it two while you're about it."

I wrote him a check for $10,000, and before he left the country I had lent him $10,000 more. This giving up my girl to him and lending him these sums I think was, to say the least, magnanimous. I told him I should be over the water soon after his arrival, whereupon he said perhaps I wouldn't mind waiting payment till I reached there. I told him it wouldn't trouble me at all.

Of course the first thing I did on reaching London was to notify him of my arrival. He came right down to my hotel and shook both my hands heartily.

"There's one thing about it over here," he said, his exuberant welcome sobering down, "our clubs don't allow introducing strangers at all. It's awfully disappointing not to be able to put you up, old chappy, but I can't, you know."

"Oh, it doesn't matter," I said. "I suppose I'll meet some nice people in other ways."

"So you will; so you will. But why didn't you come in the season? Most of my friends are out of town."

"You mean at their country places. Aren't they to be seen there?"

"Certainly, on invitation. But, you know, their guests are all booked for this season. It's awfully awkward, you know."

"I see. Don't feel bad about it."

"I must be going now. I have an appointment with Colonel De Granville, one of the king's equerries. I'll telephone you as to my plans for you."

That was the last I saw or heard of Lyttleton, and as for my loans they are loans yet.

I was about to return to America when I received a note from Miss Auchincloss asking me to come to see her. She was at a hotel, which surprised me.

"Having a pleasant visit?" she asked.

"Fine."

"Seeing lots of the aristocracy?"

"Loads of them."

She broke into a laugh.

"Got the money you loaned Lyttleton?"

"How did you find out about that?"

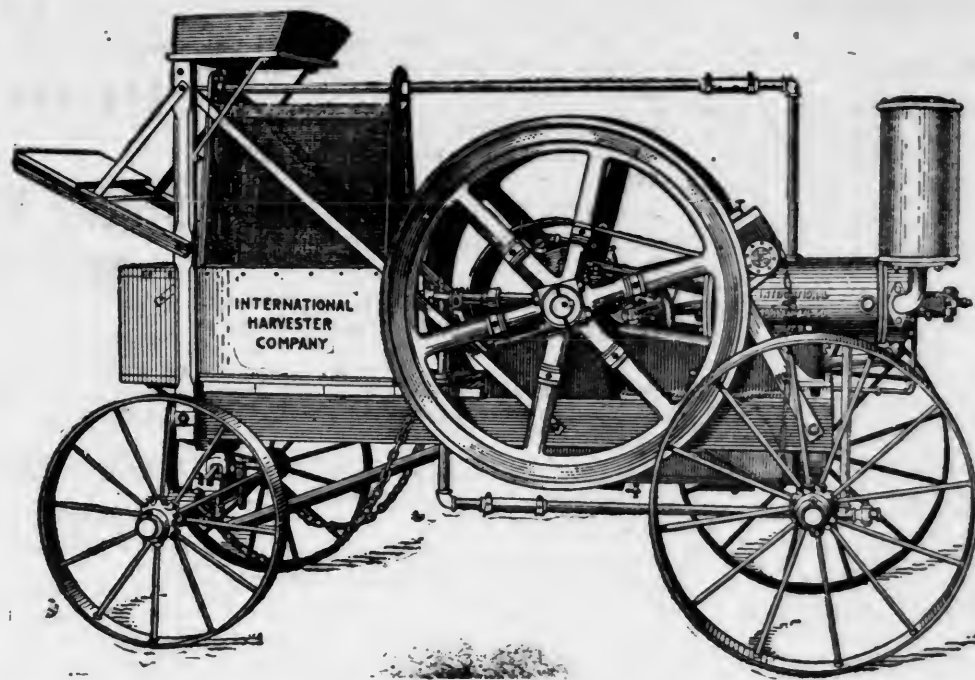

She laughed again. "A little bird told me."

I sat tapping my foot with my cane.

"It's all off between Lyttleton and me. I never intended to marry him without an investigation. I've made it."

Miss Auchincloss and I went home on the same steamer and when we arrived were engaged.

CATARRH!

Cured by the Marvel of the Century, B. B. P.—Tested for 30 Years.

Hawking, spitting, foul breath, discharges of yellow matter permanently cured with pure botanical ingredients. To prove it we will send you a SAMPLE TREATMENT FREE.

Catarrh is not only dangerous but it causes ulcerations, death and decay of bones, kills ambition, often causes loss of appetite, and reaches to general debility, idleness and insanity. It needs attention at once. Cure it by taking Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. P.). It is a quick, radical, permanent cure because it rids the system of the poison germs that cause catarrh. At the same time a Blood Balm (B. B. P.) purifies the blood, does away with every symptom of catarrh. B. B. P. sends a tingling flood of warm, rich, pure blood direct to the paralyzed nerves, and parts affected by catarrhal poison, giving warmth and strength just where it is needed, and in this way making a perfect, lasting cure of catarrh in all its forms. Druggists or by express, $1 per large bottle, with directions for its use. Samples sent free by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe your trouble and free medical advice given. WHAT CURES ECZEMA?

We have had so many inquiries lately regarding Eczema and other skin diseases, that we are glad to make our answer public. After careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, as compounded in D. D. D., can be relied upon. We would not make this statement to our patrons, friends and neighbors unless we were sure of it—and although there are many so-called Eczema remedies sold, we ourselves unhesitatingly recommend D. D. D. Prescription.

Because—We know that it gives instant relief to that torturing itch.

Because—D. D. D. starts the cure at the foundation of the trouble.

Because—it cleanses, soothes and heals the skin.

Because—it enables Nature to repair the ravages of the disease.

Because—The records of ten years of complete cures of thousands of the most serious cases show that D. D. D. is today recognized as the absolutely reliable Eczema cure.

Drop into our store today, just to talk over your case with us.

Boy Confesses He Killed Step-father.

Harry Cunningham, who has been held in Harrodsburg jail since June on the charge of murder of his stepfather, William Noel, has confessed. He admitted to Jailer J. M. Board that he killed Noel, saying he went to Noel's house to talk over Noel's treatment of Cunningham's mother. He took with him gun and cartridges as he was afraid of Noel.

Cunningham says he put the gun down and then he and his stepfather quarreled. Both ran for the weapon but Noel reached it first; then Cunningham says Noel fired twice at him and then he took the gun from Noel loaded it again and shot Noel. He says he ran away not knowing whether Noel was killed or not.

What He Might Expect.

"Trimmins has a first-rate voice," said the critic at the concert; "but he always comes in behind time." "Yes," replied the man who lends money. "I guess it's force of habit. Trimmins' notes are always overdue."—Stray Stories.

Expensive Joy Ride.

Miss Hallie Weatherby, a pretty nineteen-year-old Kentucky school teacher, is to receive $10,000 in cash from Thomas O. West, a wealthy Louisville "joy rider" who shot her. On June 7 last, Miss Weatherby and her escort were in a huggy on their way to a party when they encountered West, who is a Louisville insurance man. West was in his automobile. He had won $100 at Churchill Downs that afternoon and was celebrating his luck. When he met the buggy he leaped from his machine, revolver in hand, rushed up to the buggy and shot Miss Weatherby. He had never seen her before. Miss Weatherby was near death for several days. West was arrested and indicted. Now that she has recovered from her wound West, who seems to be thoroughly remorseful, proposes that he pay her $10,000, all the expenditures of her illness, plead guilty of a misdemeanor and pay $500 fine.

A Fierce Night Alarm.

is the hoarse, startling cugh of a child, suddenly attacked by croup. Often it aroused Lewis Chamblin, of Manchester, O., (R. R. No. 2) for their four children were greatly subject to the croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks," he wrote "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved that a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discedory is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. Asthma, Hay Fevr, La Grippe, Whooping Cough, Hemorrhages fly before it. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle, free. Sold by Oberdorfer.

Dissolving Alum.

When alum is intended for external use, where it is purposely to callous the flesh, as in the case of fever blisters and heated or even frost-bitten feet, if it is dissolved in alcohol it will be twice as effective. The alcohol is quickly absorbed by the flesh, carries some of the dissolved alum with it, and, therefore, less applications will be required to achieve the desired results.

Must File Petition With County Clerks.

Attorney General Breathitt has filed with the secretary of State a written opinion to the effect that the statutes do not require that certificates and petitions of nomination of candidate for General Assembly be filed in the department of State at Frankfort but that they should be led with the County Clerk of the county or counties for which the candidates stand for election. A number of inquiries in the matter had been presented to Assistant Secretary of State.

A Demonstration

By DOROTHEA HALE

Dick Ainsworth, a young American with a rich and indulgent father, spent much of his time abroad, Paris being his favorite place of residence. He was a frequent visitor at the opera and the theaters. Indeed, they were his world. One night on the stage of the Opera Comique he saw his fate. One of the singers, Mlle. Clochette Verdier, was the impersonation of modesty, of decorum, of all that is gentle and feminine.

Ainsworth requested a theatrical friend to take him behind the scenes and introduce him to the lady. This was duly granted, and Ainsworth found Mlle. Verdier the same shy, unassuming creature she was on the stage. She was rather petite and dressed off—and usually on—the stage in very simple attire, her hair especially being plainly done. When Ainsworth looked at her admiringly her eyes dropped to the floor and she stood before him a living statue of innocence.

At the end of a few months, during which Ainsworth gave Mlle. Verdier all of his time that she was able to spare of her own to be with him, he found himself desperately in love with her and made her a proposal of marriage. It was accepted, and Ainsworth was inordinately happy. He told his fiancée that it would not be necessary for her to remain on the stage—that his father was a very rich man.

Ainsworth senior was but twenty-two years older than Ainsworth junior, but he had always been very liberal with his son and had told the boy that when he wished to marry he would provide for him. "I don't wish you to be in a hurry to get me out of the way, Dick," the parent had said. "I'm good for twenty or thirty years yet, but I shall not trouble you because I still live." When Clochette asked Dick if his father would object to his marrying one on the stage Dick told her that his father had come very near doing the same thing himself before he married his mother.

Dick wrote his father about his engagement, and his father replied sympathetically that if the description he had received of the lady were correct he would have no objection whatever to the match and would provide for the couple liberally. The elder Ainsworth was a widower, with no other child except Dick, and he promised to settle half of his estate on his boy on the day of his marriage. "But," he said in closing his letter, "I must make the acquaintance of your fiancée before giving my approval, and I am sorry to say I shall not be able to cross the ocean for several months yet."

This last part of his father's letter was the only part of it that interfered with Dick's comfort. He was very much in love and desired to be made happy at once. It troubled him that his dear, modest little Clochette should continue to be the target for the eyes of the young bloods of Paris. He would gladly have had her leave it at once, but she declined to do so until they were married. So Dick was forced to wait till his father could come over and all should be settled.

At last he received the welcome news that Mr. Ainsworth would sail on a certain date and go direct to Paris on his arrival at Havre. Dick waited for the day of arrival feverishly. He had no doubt of his father's approval of his ladylove. Such unaffected sweetness would charm any man. Besides, Dick knew that his father had a keen insight into character, especially of women. He would at once recognize Clochette's moral worth—would see how different she was from many women on the stage.

On the day of his father's expected arrival Dick received a telegram from him inviting his son to sup with him at a cafe on the Champs Elysees. Mr. Ainsworth would not arrive before 10 p. m., and his son was to go to the cafe at 11. At the appointed hour Dick went to the cafe and asked for his father. The proprietor announced that M. Ainsworth had engaged a private room, but that he had evidently been detained, since he had not yet arrived.

Dick impatiently walked back and forth for an hour, when a waiter stepped up to him and bade him follow him. He led the young man to an upper story and, stopping at a certain door, threw it open.

The sight young Ainsworth beheld startled him. Around a table on which were the remains of a supper sat a company of men and women all the worse for wine. But this was only the beginning of what Dick saw. At one end sat his father, evidently the host, while the crowning feature of the scene was a woman dancing around the festive board.

She was Mlle. Clochette Verdier. "Father! Clochette!" cried Dick, aghast.

The dancer stopped, looked from her fiancée to his father, got down from the table and walked angrily out of the room.

"My son," said the elder Ainsworth, "demonstration is better than persuasion. I have been a long while in Paris incognito studying your fiancée."

And that was the end of Dick Ainsworth's dream of love—at least that dream. He had another later, but this time his father approved of his choice as soon as he saw her.

Hunting Lions With Dogs.

Hunting lions with dogs is being tried for the first time in Africa by a party of American hunters, one of whom is Dr. Marius Johnston, a son of Adj. Gen. P. P. Johnston, Gen. Johnston received a letter from Dr. Johnston telling about the successful hunt which is being had by the party. Dr. Johnston is surgeon in charge of the expedition which Paul Rainey, formed to hunt big game in Africa. Dr. Johnston said the dogs worked splendidly and that only two wounded lions have escaped, as the dogs trail the animals and the hunters are able to kill the game after a chase. The dogs are useful, Dr. Johnston says, in permitting the hunters to approach on foot closer to the lions than has ever been possible before, and that without danger of a charge by the game. The lions worried by the dogs and is afraid to charge the hunter on account of the pack of dogs about him. Many fine skins have been secured by the party and shipped to the Smithsonian Institute at Washington. Dr. Johnston says there is talk of the party going to India for a hunt for tigers, and later it may go to Japan.

Her Position.

"You know," said Mr. Meekton, "I secure the franchise you'll have to go to the polls and vote." "Humph!" replied the wife; "I'd like to see anybody make me vote if I don't feel like it."

Yes, indeed.

When a married man takes a little gift out to the wife in the country every time he goes out to spend the week-end and tells her not to worry about him because he is getting along fine, then it is time for her to make a short, unannounced visit in town.

"Central" Speaks.

Call me not with scornful numbers,
Like "two-seven-O-ring three!"
Snapped out in disdainful accents—
Pray, be courteous to me!
Would you like to set here with a
Telephone strapped on your head,
All day long to answer summons?
Wouldn't you wish that you were dead?

When I say the line is busy,
Honestly, sometimes it is.
Why do you get so indignant
When you hear the buzzer's whiz?
And wrong numbers—naturally
Sometimes I am at a loss;
But in fact, I give them mostly
To subscribers who are cross.

Be polite. It will not hurt you,
Even though I'm in a box.
I am human—although hidden—
And am sensitive to knocks.
Be polite. Do unto others
As you'd have them do to you.
It's a good rule to observe—and
You'll get better service, too.

—Perhaps the biggest engineering project ever undertaken in Kentucky is now under way in Graves county. It is being put through by the farmers of the Obion creek bottom near Pryorsburg, westward for a distance of about ten miles, and means the building of a drainage canal twenty or more feet wide and about ten miles long. The cost of the job will be in the neighborhood of $200,000, and it is to be met by the land owners through whose farms the ditch must pass. The canal will follow the general course of Obion creek and is to carry the water that this stream has failed to take care of in the past. When completed it will be big enough to carry all the water that has heretofore sought the creek, and the old zig-zag channel will be filled and converted into farming land.

Poisoned Corn Found in Field.

Robert Shea, a prominent young farmer of Nicholas county, who resides near Myers Station, took several ears of corn to Carlisle which he says he found in a large pasture on his farm. The ears of corn were in the shock and almost covered inside the shock with Paris green. Mr. Shea says the ears covered with Paris green were found by him in a pasture where he had his horses and sheep and every effort will be made to find out how the poisoned corn came in the field.

Couldn't Walk!

"I used to be troubled with a weakness peculiar to women," writes Mrs. Anna Jones, of Kenny, Ill. "For nearly a year, I could not walk, without holding my sides. I ride horseback as good as ever. I am in fine health at 52 years."

A Sudden Transformation

By R. W. KEENAN

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

I went from America to South Africa, leaving my wife and children at home. I was run down in health, discouraged and felt that the only way to pluck up courage and get on my feet was to light out, leave all cares behind me and strike a new field. My wife's father—an excellent man, by the way—agreed to take care of my family till I could send for them or return to them restored in health and pluck.

I left America sick and disheartened. A man sick is usually a man disheartened, and when he is obliged to go away by himself to recover his health he feels as if the bottom has dropped out of his life. I never expected to see my family again. However, the sea voyage helped me, and by the time I reached Africa I felt able to do something for myself.

I went to work in the Kimberley diamond mines, where I learned to tell a diamond when I saw it, no matter if it was in the rough. One day in walking across a field I saw one and recognized it at once. It was as big as a small English walnut and about the same shape. I pounced upon it, looked it over and, sure I was right about it being a diamond, put it in my pocket. Even if of a poor grade it would make me rich.

I made up my mind to return to America with my find. So, procuring a little chamolais skin bag, I put the diamond in it, first marking my name on the bag in ink. Then I took a traveling wagon for the coast.

There were half a dozen of us traveling together, but only two of my fellow passengers attracted my attention. One was a big, rough looking man, who sat beside me, noticeable for his villainous appearance. The other was a little man in the garb of a curate of the English church. He was reading his prayer book most of the time, seeming to be only interested in holy matters, a typical British parson of the inferior grade, one of those miserable creatures who for some dirty work done a lord gets a living, though this one, being in Africa, it appeared more likely that he was a missionary clergyman.

I hadn't been sitting long by the big, rough man, whose accent marked him for a Yorkshire man, when I thought of my diamond, which was in one of my pockets next to him. I clapped my hand on the place where it should be, and, lo, it was gone!

I knew it had passed into the possession of the Yorkshireman. But what was I to do? I was unarmed, and I could see the butt of his pistol extending from his hip pocket. I looked over the passengers to see if there was one I could rely on to help me in case I should accuse the man and claim my property. But two of them were women, and the men in the coach, except the two I have mentioned, were weakly chaps, who appeared to have very little stuff in them. There seemed nothing for me to do but wait till we got to the end of the route, keep the man in sight at all hazards and take my chances for an opportunity to recover my diamond. This I decided on and did not show by word or act that I had been robbed.

The opportunity came sooner than I looked for it. Suddenly the wagon was stopped by a single man, who ordered us all out and to line up, as road agents do in western America. Only the curate refused, and he appeared to do so from abject cowardice. Retreating to a far corner, he begged the robber not to kill him.

The robber threatened to do so if he didn't get out at once, but the clergyman only whimpered and covered his face with his hands. The robber, transferring his revolver to his left hand, entered the wagon, seized the little man by the collar with his right hand and was pulling him out when a sharp crack rang out and the robber fell back out of the wagon dead.

If there was any life left in him it was knocked out by the curate, who jumped on him with both feet. I never saw a small man grow big so quickly in my life. The next thing he did was to plant his fist under the jaw of the Yorkshireman, who, recovering from the surprise of the episode, was putting his hand to his hip for his revolver. The big man did not have time to get up before the curate was on him, hammering him in the face with a Derringer. Having stunned him, he took a pair of handcuffs out of his pocket and clapped them on his wrists.

"What can I do for you?" I asked of the parson.

"Get things in order to go on. I'm Jack Sharp of Scotland Yard. This man was the other's pard. I have been following him to take him to England. I saw him rob you, and I knew he was here to help the other."

I did as he directed, got the driver into place, and, finding some rope under a seat, Jack Sharp bound the prisoner firmly. Then we proceeded on the journey. Sharp took my gem out of the man's pocket and handed it to me. I got safely home with it, had it ground and turned into cash. I wouldn't like to say how much money it brought me, but since I sold it I don't have to work unless I wish to.

Talk about transformations! When the sniveling curate changed himself into the celebrated Jack Sharp of Scotland Yard I saw the quickest one on record.

Hundreds Killed in Explosion.

Death to more than half the crew of 793 officers and men of the battleship Liberte, counted one of the finest vessels in the French navy, followed a fire and explosion which wrecked the great ship yesterday.

The fire was discovered at 5 o'clock. At first it did not appear to be serious but somehow or other it gained quick advantage over the squad of sailors sent to extinguish it, and suddenly without warning it reached the magazines, which had not been flooded on account of the apparently trifling nature of the blaze.

The force of the explosions was terrific. They shook the vessel fore and aft, each one seemingly stronger than that preceding, opening up great fissures in the armor and framework of the vessel.

The vessel immediately became a mass of fire and smoke and soon, almost demolished by the terrific detonations, sank to the bottom of the Toulon harbor.

It was all over in a comparatively short time.

Misuse of Via.

A stroll through the shipping district gives many a wrench to the purist's soul. "In front of all the commission houses," he said, "I see bales and barrels labeled 'via boat' or 'via train.' Why does not somebody tell the shipping clerks that every time they write that they are insulting the English and every other language? 'Via' can be applied properly only to the place through which a parcel passes, not to the means of transportation."

Myth Concerning the Salamander.

Newts and salamanders are pretty much like frogs and toads, only they have a tail and look like a lizard, and then in some breeds the pair of hind legs are small and in others lacking. Salamanders often get into old rotten logs and if put on the fire run out without being hurt in many cases, because they are more or less damp and may not actually pass through much fire. But folk think a salamander is right at home in the fire.

Youth's Commercial Instinct.

A boy of nine, who had never previously witnessed a collection in church, was deeply interested, and when the bags were finally borne off by clergy and choir in procession, proclaimed in a loud whisper of sympathetic excitement, "Now they're going to share it out!"

VERIFY IT.

The Proof is in Paris Almost at Your Door.

The public statement of a Paris citizen is in itself strong proof for Paris people, but confirmation strengthens the evidence.

Here is a Paris citizen who testified years ago that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved sick kidneys and now states the cure was permanent. Can any sufferer from kidney ills ask better proof? You can investigate. The case is right at home.

Mrs. J. T. Martin, Eleventh and Main streets, Paris, Ky., says: "Kidney trouble in my case was brought on by a fall I received two years ago. My back ached until I thought it would break and sharp twinges often shot through my kidneys. I tried various remedies, but could not find relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Wilson's drug store. After using them one week I felt like a different woman and I was soon completely cured. I gave a statement for publication in 1903, telling of my experience, and at this time I am glad to confirm all I then said in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. I think more highly of them than ever."

Lexington Track Makes Money.

While the exact figures are not likely to be given to the public, it is apparent that the Kentucky Association booked a profit of approximately $2,000 on its fall meeting of nine days that ended Saturday. It was that extra 1 per cent that comes from the breaks in a pari-mutuel betting that saved them from a loss.

The total amount of money handled through the machines during the nine days was $270,020, which—figuring the commission at 5 per cent and the breaks at 1 per cent though they were possibly more—calculated at 6 per cent, netted $16,200. The revenue from the gate and the privileges was about $9,300, making the total receipts $25,500.

Taking Depositions.

Attorneys retained in the damage suit of Calvin Elam's administrator against the Bourbon Home Telephone Company and the Paris Gas and Electric Co., were yesterday taking depositions in the case which will come up for trial in the Bourbo Circuit Court at the November term. The suit is against the corporations jointly and the petition prays for damages to the extent of $30,000 for the death of Elam which is alleged to have been caused by an electric light wire crossing a dead telephone wire of the Home Company. Elam coming in contact with the dead wire is alleged to have knocked him from a pole, while in the discharge of his duties as lineman in the employ of the telephone company, causing his death. The defendant is represented by Talbott & Whitely, while the plaintiff companies have retained Judge Denis Dundon and Hon. C. M. Thomas.
